An introduction to Munich

Munich is famed for beer, football and motor cars, but whilst these all have their place, it is a city of many other contrasting themes and an excellent destination for a school trip focusing on German or History.

“Dozens of architectural jaw-droppers, world class museums and art galleries”

As capital of Bavaria you'll find beautiful countryside on tap just minutes out of the city and the alpine foothills not much further on. Back in the city, there are literally dozens of architectural jaw-droppers such as the Frauenkirche and Neues Rathaus, a long list of world class museums and art galleries, along with many theatres and music venues showing different plays and performances.

For History tours, use Munich as a base and visits to Dachau concentration Camp and Nuremberg are within easy access, and on a slightly lighter note a trip to Neuschwanstein Castle is a little further, probably 2-3 hours by coach, but well worth it for the stories of the King Ludwig II, his megalomania and to see probably the most photographed castle on the planet.

All visits are covered by our externally verified Safety Management System and are pre-paid when applicable. Prices and opening times are accurate as of May 2018 and are subject to change and availability. Booking fees may apply to services provided by Voyager School Travel when paid on site.

Marienplatz

Marienplatz is the central square in Munich, it has been the city's main square since 1158. Marienplatz was named after the Mariensäule, a Marian column erected in its centre in 1638 to celebrate the end of Swedish occupation. The pedestrian zone between Karlsplatz and Marienplatz is a crowded area with numerous shops and restaurants. You will also find the spectacular New City Hall in this square.

Frauenkirche

The Frauenkirche or "Cathedral of Our Dear Lady" is a major landmark and is considered a symbol of the Bavarian capital city. It is located in Munich's Old Town. In WWII, the Frauenkirche was very heavily damaged by air strikes, but was later rebuilt and renovated. The south tower of the cathedral can be climbed and offers a unique, wide view across the rooftops of Munich and on to the Alps.

White Rose Monument

This monument is dedicated to the memory of the non-violent, intellectual resistance group in Nazi Germany. The group became known for an anonymous leaflet and graffiti campaign, lasting from June 1942 until February 1943.

Odeonsplatz

The Odeonsplatz is a large square in central Munich, named after the former concert hall, the Odeon, on its southwestern side. The square was the scene of a fatal gun battle which ended the March on the Feldherrnhalle during the 1923 Beer Hall Putsch.

Munich Residenz

The Munich Residenz served as the seat of government and residence of the Bavarian dukes, electors and kings for 400 years. The Residenz houses a number of museums and monuments maintained by the Bavarian Administration of State-owned Palaces, Gardens and Lakes, along with other cultural institutions. The complex as a whole is one of the largest museums in Bavaria.

Nazi Rally Grounds

The Nazi Party Rally Grounds - as a total entity and as individual buildings - were intended to demonstrate National Socialist power to the world without and to those within. With their gigantic dimensions, the grounds and the architecture were meant to suggest to the individual visitor to the Nazi Party Rallies that he was participating in something major and significant, while at the same time conveying the impression of his own insignificance.

Neuschwanstein Castle

King Ludwig II's Neuschwanstein Castle is one of the most popular of all the palaces and castles in Europe. Every year 1.4 million people visit "the castle of the fairy-tale king". In the summer, around 6,000 visitors a day stream through rooms that were intended for a single inhabitant.

The setting of Neuschwanstein could not be more idyllic. However, it must be consistently preserved to protect it from the erosion of the elements.
